

Harriman Tells Legislature of Challenges

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman, sidestepping demands for election-year tax relief, somberly told the 1958 Legislature today New York state must spend millions more to meet the challenges of the space age.

The fourth annual message of the Democratic governor's opening his drive for re-election, thus signalled a likely fight with the Legislature's Republican leaders, who already have called for another 40-million income tax abatement.

Harriman declared that, while the times demanded "decisive action," the Eisenhower administration's tight-money policy was checking expansion of the state's economy and cutting its tax income.

But he warned that the United States was "clearly lagging" behind the Soviet Union in technological advances and asserted "New York must help to close this gap," even though state spending continued to soar.

The program he sent to the opening session.

1. Endorsed parts of the regents' 20-million-dollar plan for improving science — mathematics instruction in the public schools and reprinted the rest was under "careful study." Key proposals call for more scholarships, longer classroom hours and more grants to schools that set up experimental programs to stimulate training in science and mathematics.

2. Demanded prompt boosts, from $36 to $45, in the top weekly benefits of unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation — without GOP riders that prompted him to veto their benefit bills last year.

Daughter of Bob Burns Arrested

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Barbara Ann Burns, 19, daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns, was arrested today and booked on suspicion of violating the state narcotics law. Detectives said she placed a statement saying she was addicted to narcotics.

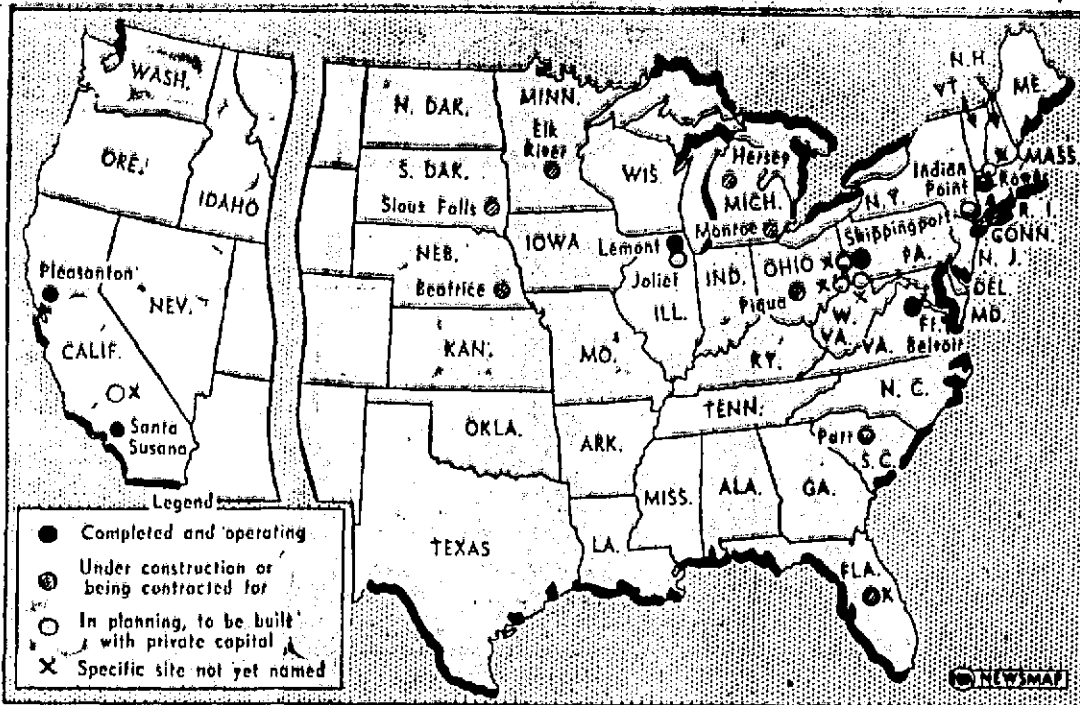

The officers said Miss Burns told them narcotics addiction has cost her $15 to $30 a day and that her weight has gone down 45 pounds in the last 2 months. Miss Burns, clad in leopard-spotted pants and beige sweater, complained of being in pain after her arrest and was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Also taken into custody were two men, John de Roer, 30, and Robert A. Gray, 23. They were booked on suspicion of violating the narcotics laws.

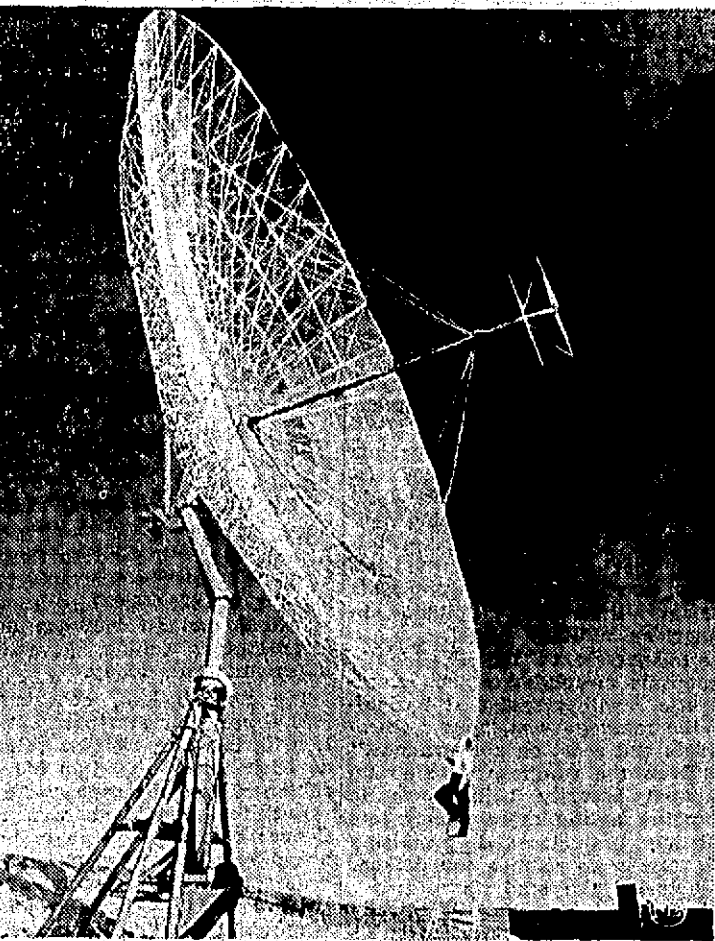

Miss Burns, whose father died Feb. 2, 1956, said she would help police run down the man she claims responsible for her addiction and daily supply of heroin.

LENGTHY JOURNEY

So vast is the wheel-shaped Milky Way that it takes light, traveling 186,000 miles a second, 100,000 years to cross it from rim to rim.

THE ATOM COMES OF AGE—The recent opening of the Westinghouse atomic electric power plant at Shippingport, Pa., put the spotlight on the growth of "atoms for peace." Newsmap shows five atomic plants now in operation, delivering civilian power. Nine more are now under construction or negotiating contracts. And seven plants, to be built by private capital without any direct government financing, are in the planning stage. In addition to those in this country, six other plants, to be supplied with nuclear fuel by the U.S., are under construction or being contracted for in Anchorage, Alaska; Belgium, Brazil, Cuba, Italy and Mexico.

TUNED TO SPACE—Designed to probe outer space, this massive 61-foot diameter antenna dwarfs a workman at the experimental radar station being developed for the U.S. Air Force by the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, Calif. The 300-megacycle transmitter is used to gather data on the behavior of very high and ultra high frequency radio signals and reflection from meteors.

CHAPTER XI

Just as they finished with the final animal of the string, Captain Judson Dillon appeared, moving into the ragged area of lantern light. Morning's dark touch silvered his long overcoat with a beaded wetness, and his thin, dark cheeks were drawn and set by his chill. With him were Provo Holt and Vance McClelland. "Sebastian managed to hide his feelings behind an impassive mask. He nodded to Dillon. 'I'm ready to pull out, Captain. Where's that escort?' Dillon's manner was stiff, his answer curt. 'It will be here. You'll wait for it. There's considerable loading to be done yet, including Mr. Holt's string. We'll all travel together under the eye of the same quickly. That wasn't last night's agreement.' "There was no agreement," Dillon rapped. "You said you would leave at daylight. I said you would leave when I gave the word. Any other impression you may have is pure assumption on your part."

Provo Holt showed a sardonic smile. He was a little, smooth-featured man, fair of hair and with pale, cold eyes. Behind the mocking gleam of his glance as it rested on Ward Sebastian lay the naked flame of an unrelenting hatred.

Vance McClelland, lank and dark-faced, hid whatever he felt behind a stony indifference, real or assumed. His lips were still swollen from last night's contact with Sebastian's fist.

Sebastian centered all his attention on Dillon. "Captain," he said bluntly, "I won't do. Last evening I told you I would travel at daylight. You conceded the point. I've kept my word and I expect you to keep yours. Sam, bring up our horses. We're leaving."

Dillon's black eyes showed a glimmer. "If you persist, Sebastian, you'll force me to take measures."

It was in Sebastian to fence around a point just as long. "Measure? What kind of measure? I suggest, Captain, that you clump down off these precious shoulder lugs of yours. They may be all of life and the keys to the gates of heaven to you, but to me they don't mean a thing. See that you don't start something you can't stop. Because I'm prepared to ride this thing through, right up to the top, Captain. Where the big brass lives. Then we'll see what they think of this kind of deal. It could be you'll end up minus some of your shine."

The fiery defiance held Captain Dillon silent for a moment, and in this stillness Provo Holt spoke, mocking, sardonic, "Big talk, Sebastian, big talk!"

Sebastian whirled on him. "Who asked you in on this, you squaw killer?"

Provo Holt had gone very still, his face draining of color. His lips made a pinched line across his teeth, and when he spoke, his words barely seeped through, husky and toneless.

"Sebastian, I've had just about enough of that from you. If you didn't have Lester backing your hand—"

"I can take care of that, too," said Sebastian swiftly. "Sam, you stay out of this completely. Mr. Holt here, is going proud on us. It'll be interesting to see if he's as good with a gun on me as he was on that poor little frightened squaw at Desolation Flat. All right, Holt! You start it! I've been waiting a long time for you to get up nerve enough to make the try. Go ahead."

As he spoke, Sebastian stripped open his coat, flung it back, so that the gun at his hip was ready to his hand. Now he waited, putting the weight of his further decision on Provo Holt.

Violence, or the promise of it, was an integral part of any soldier's life. This Captain Judson Dillon knew and understood. But that violence when it came, to a degree was ordered violence, planned and maneuvered, and made legitimate under the title of war. Here was something else.

Captain Dillon realized that he was faced with a deadlock that could be broken only by someone making concession, and though making concession at any time — especially to a civilian — was gall and wormwood to him, he made it now. He stepped between Sebastian and Holt and spoke sharply.

"Enough of that! Whatever your private quarrel, you'll not go through with it here, Mr. Sebastian. If you insist on traveling without escort, you'll be held completely responsible for every ounce of supplies in those packs. If you are prepared to accept that responsibility, you may pull out immediately."

Sebastian was hearing Captain Dillon's words, but he was watching Provo Holt with a narrow, bleak alertness, trigger-sharp for any hostile move Holt might make. He saw and measured the rioting rage in the man. But he saw something else, too, the thin shine that suddenly glittered on Holt's face when Captain Dillon intervened. In spite of the frigid dawn, that shine was of sweat, the sweat of relief.

Sebastian's lips curled. He buttoned his coat again and nodded. "Very well, Captain. Have no worry about the supplies. They'll be well taken care of. All right, Sam."

They climbed into their wet saddles. (To Be Continued)

Oil Firm Gets a Cleaning Bill

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—The city council has decided to bill the Pure Oil Co. for $1,741 for expenses involved in cleaning 4,120 gallons of gasoline off a city street.

Fire Chief Ruff Coleman said the gasoline spilled 10 days ago when a hose broke between a tank truck and a storage tank. The truck driver wasn't on hand and nobody knew how to shut off the gushing fuel.

Firemen spent five hours washing down the area to prevent possible explosion or fire. Coleman said 1,000 feet of hose was damaged by the gasoline.

The chief figured $1,480 for the hose, $98 for labor for 12 firemen and $165 for the use of two fire trucks.

Students Evacuate Burning School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Approximately 350 Negro students were evacuated when fire destroyed the one-story brick College Station school, east of here, today.

There were no injuries. The children marched out in an orderly fashion when an alarm was sounded. Apparently they thought it was just a fire drill.

The fire was discovered in an attic. Firemen theorized it might have started from defective electric wiring.

School officials gave no estimate of loss.

The scene is outside the Little Rock city limits.

The school was part of the Pulaski County rural system. It housed pupils from the fourth through the eighth grades.

Lower grades are housed in auxiliary buildings on the same campus. The fire was kept from spreading to these.

11 Clerks Hurt in Train Wreck

PORTAGE, Wis. (AP) — Eleven mail clerks were injured and 70 passengers were shaken up at 4 a.m. today when the Milwaukee Road's "Pioneer Limited" apparently struck a broken rail in the road's yards near Portage, derailling 11 of 17 cars on the train.

Fire broke out in the yard after the crash.

Witnesses said one of the derailed cars crashed into the caboose of an eastbound freight on a parallel track, wrecking the caboose. The caboose wreckage burst into flames.

The postal clerks were in a mail car which overturned. They were taken to Divine Savior Hospital, neapolis to Chicago.

Kelly, Gaynor, Kendall and Elg Star in 'Les Girls,' Laugh-and-Song-Happy Musical Delight

Producer Sol C. Siegel, who gave the screen one of its greatest musical hits now follows with another musical bonanza in "Les Girls," starts Sunday at the Saenger.

Again the astute producer has brought together a brilliant cast, starring Gene Kelly, Mitzel Gaynor, England's Kay Kendall, making her Hollywood debut, Taina Tils and Jacques Bergerac, Cole Porter again has come through with a flock of new songs for the new story of a musical act which tours Europe and gets itself involved in hilarious romantic complications.

The story begins in London with a suit for libel. Sybil (Kay Kendall), the English member of the act now married to Sir Gerald Wren, has written her gay memoirs about her experiences with the troupe which was known as "Barry Nichols and Les Girls." Barry (Gene Kelly) being its American entrepreneur. In the book she had written that Angele Ducros (Taina Elg), the act's French dancer, had attempted to commit suicide because of her unrequited love for Barry. Angele, now married to Pierre Ducros, furiously denies this statement and is suing Sybil for slander.

As the respective principals testify on the witness stand, the film dissolves into flashbacks, which depict the events they relate, tracing the course of the musical act, which also includes the American dancer, Joy Henderson (Mitzel Gaynor), from its first Paris engagement through events taking place during their appearances in Vienna, Rome, Granada and back to Paris.

The testimony offered by Angele and Sybil is completely contradictory. Whereas the latter claims that Angele had come close to ruining the act and had been fired by Barry because of her duplicity in hiding the fact that she was engaged to Pierre and then had turned on the gas in their flat in an attempt to take her life, Angele insists that it was Sybil who had attempted suicide after she had lost Barry's love through her excessive drinking and her "two timing."

It is Barry, now a television showman in the States, who is brought back to London to give his version of the events, and it is his story which now turns the spotlight on the part played by Joy in the romantic entanglements and contretemps of "Les Girls" and brings the libel suit to an end in an unexpected climax.

because I was too tired to go home. My mother even helped by trimming the paper-based records with her scissors.

"The cards caught on fast. The first year we took in $25,000, the second year $300,000. Then we couldn't give them away. The cards were a fad, and the fad was over."

Cy then decided to take an even bigger gamble — to enter the record field in competition with the major companies. He decided the only way he could win was to put out a 25-cent product and aim for a new mass field through supermarkets, toy stores, and mail order houses.

"I picked up a number of the unknown singers and used them to make children's records," he recalled. "Later on some of them went on to fame in the adult music field."

And Cy, who now has three children of his own, made one other major decision — that none of his musical versions of classic fairy tales and fables would have frightening endings.

"We'd rather take a few liberties with the story than scare a child," he said. "In our record of Little Red Riding Hood, the bad wolf is caught and tied up — but he isn't axed. We don't want to give kids nightmares."

Leslie's cricket label line for that now he has begun a new line of low-priced albums for the adult market.

How was this ex-sergeant able to go out and carve his own growing empire in a 400-million-a-year industry ruled by giant companies?

"Guts and ignorance," said Leslie. "There were many times when, if we really had known what we were up against, we probably should have quit — but we didn't."

"We work on the theory that dollars are what count — not percentages. If you have the volume — and you'll get the volume if your product is good and your price is low — you'll get the dollars."

Manager to Undergo Major Surgery

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Bart Avery, city manager of Springfield, will undergo major surgery tomorrow for removal of a non-malignant pancreatic cyst.

The 48-year-old official is expected to be in the hospital for two weeks and convalescing for six or more weeks after that.

John Newberry, city attorney, will be acting city manager in his absence.

Russia Claims More Milk Production

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Agriculture Minister Vladimir Matskevich asserted today that Russia will surpass the United States this year in milk production. Catching up in meat production will take a little longer, he added.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has called for an all-out campaign to produce more meat, milk and butter than the United States by 1960. Matskevich said this is the main goal of all cattlemen and dairymen in Russia.

Matskevich sidestepped questions on 1957 farm crops, saying final statistics were not available. The crops would be sufficient to meet the needs of the people, he said.

Family Should Not Criticize Father Who Is Doing His Best

Dear Dorothy Dix: My wife is in a mental hospital, and I have four young children to worry about. I thought, prayed and sought counsel from my church and finally decided the best thing to do with the youngsters was to put them in foster homes. I support them the best I can. They are loved and receive good treatment in these homes, though sometimes I guess they are lonesome for each other. My problem is: some of my wife's family disagree with the arrangements I have made and criticize my management of the problem.

Hot Weekend Items for the Home Plate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot items for the home plate this week are eggs, chicken fryers and some of the cheaper cuts of beef.

Eggs constitute a real bargain—down anywhere from 6 to 2 cents a dozen around the country. Prominently featured this week, and will be boneless pot roasts, beef blade, and cross rib roasts, chuck steak and hamburger.

The most heavily spotlighted pork items are smoked boneless hams, rib ends, sausage and chops, rather than the big familiar hams. Bacon, bologna and sandwich meats are a specialty feature at many supermarket counters across the nation.

Bargains in vegetables are not too plentiful this week. The best buys are potatoes and onions from local fields. Prices of both these basic staples are headed higher, but at the moment they are attractive.

The Florida freeze a fortnight ago is reflected in somewhat higher than usual seasonal prices for egg plant, beans, pepper, cucumbers and tomatoes.

One exception, however, is cabbage from Texas and Florida growers which is in moderately good supply and in the fairly good buy class.

Apples remain the best fruit buy but shoppers should remember many varieties should be eaten quickly if they are not of the storage type.

When to Fish or Hunt
SOLUNAR TABLES
by John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter.
The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Thought for the day
In order to judge of the inside of others, study your own; for men in general are very much alike, and though one has one prevailing passion and another one has another, yet their operations are very much the same; and what ever engages or disgusts, please or offend you in others will engage, disgust, please or offend others in
you. Chesterfield.

Services at Oak Grove for the first Sunday were very impressive.
The Sunday School was well attended. The pastor, Rev. E. N. Glover was the speaker. Mrs. Amillee Smith a teacher in the Sunday School and the Blevins Training School, Leo Smith a student, both had perfect attendance for the year.

George Smith Jr., had perfect attendance for the last two years.
The message was from Joshua 3:4
"Ye have not passed this way heretofore." Six young people joined as candidates for baptism. The pastor and his wife were given a Christmas shower.

Bethel AME Quarterly Conference
The first quarterly conference for the year of 1958 of Bethel AME Church will be held Sunday, Jan.
12 with the presiding elder, Rev.
J. C. Crier of Arkadelphia, speaking in the morning and evening service. In the evening the following churches will participate: Bethel AME, Rev. C. S. Stearns, pastor; Rising Star Baptist, Rev. Earl Morgan, pastor; Davis Chapel Methodist, Rev. H. A. Davis, pastor; Church of God in Christ, Eld.
Washington, pastor. The public is invited to attend this great spiritual feast.

Southern State Trips Hendrix

MAGNOLIA, Ark., (AP) — Steve Shiron and Linwood Cathy scored 16 points each as Southern State's basketeers tripped Hendrix 66-53
here last night.

Hendrix held an early 8-0 lead, but the Mulderiders pulled away in the second half and substituted freely in late stages of the game.

Porkers Get Real Test Against TCU

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., (AP) —
Arkansas' surprising Razorbacks got their first real test of the young Southwest Conference basketball season here tonight against the lowering Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

A victory over TCU and another in Monday's home engagement with Texas Tech would put the Porkers in a commanding position in the title race.

The Horned Frogs won the pre-season conference tournament but lost prestige Tuesday night when they fell before Tech, a club beaten by Arkansas in the tourney consolation tilt.

TCU is led by 6-10 H. E. Kirchner.
Arkansas' sparks in the past few games have been guards Fred Grim and Larry Gelsman.

Carter Tagged the Favorite Bowler

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Don Carter of St. Louis, a bowling superstar, was tagged the favorite today in the gold-laden Bowling Proprietors Assn. All-Star tournament at the Minneapolis Armory.

The 31-year-old defending champion's biggest backing came from the men who know best: bestrifing hotshots who regard him as the finest bowler in the land.

The quest for more than $36,000 in cash prizes starts tonight in a "parade of stars" feature which is not actually part of the tournament proper.

At stake tonight is $3,000 in prize money, divided among two shifts of men bowlers and one for women.

The blue chip firing starts tomorrow over the Armory's 24 lanes, and won't let up until a week from Sunday. By then the opening field of 288 bowlers will have been whittled down to 10 finalists for match play competition in both divisions.

Carter, 1956-57 "Bowler of the Year" and winner of the recent world tournament in Chicago, is a three-times champion of the All-Star meet.

His overall all-star average of 205 is surpassed only by the 208 of Bill Lillard of Chicago, the 1956
All-Star champion.

As winners of the two previous tournaments, Carter and Lillard have been automatically seeded into the 16-man finals.

Other top-ranked contenders for the $5,000 first place booty are Ed Lubanski of Detroit, Carter's St. Louis teammates Tom Hennessey and Dick Weber and Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, among others.

Favored in the women's division is Mrs. Marion Ledewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., six times All-Star champion.

Rosburg Heads Rich Crosby Tournament

By JACK STEVENSON

PERBLE BEACH, Calif., (AP) —
Bob Rosburg, one of golf's great putters, headed into the rain-threatened second round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby Tournament today with a two-stroke lead and a tough course facing him.

Rosburg, sinking putts up to 30 feet, fashioned a 7-under-par 65 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout as 280 amateurs and pros lacked two courses, courses.

Bob goes over the second one,
Cypress Point, for his second round and judging from opening scores there, he faces a tougher assignment. Eight of the nine tournament-leading scores were shot over Monterey, where the winds and occasional rains didn't bother as much.

Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., posted a 67 at Cypress, though the same score as Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, had a Monterey.

Six golfers ducked out at 68, all fired at Monterey. Along with Rosburg, they must tackle Cypress.
A 19-year-old 6-07 yard course along the sea cliffs. Ken Yel-lure, Fred Hawkins, George Bayer, Jack Fleck and Johnny Bolt.

In the pre-amateur division, in which teams play a best ball, the lead was shared by the twosome of Rosburg and a San Francisco sports writer, Nelson Cullenward, and Bolt with movie star Johnny Weissmuller of Hollywood.
Each team had a 61.

Saturday night Jan. 11 at 7. The general public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Nathaniel
W. B. Walker and son, Charles W. B. Walker, were the sponsors of the Crosby tournament. The family of Mrs. Nathaniel's sister, Mrs. Anna Witherspoon and family of the city.

Young Lewis Will Have His Education

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Three generations of Lewises are working on Avery's latest movie, but one is due for retirement.

It was quite a family scene on the set of "Rock-a-Bye-Baby" over at Paramount. Frank Tashen was directing a shot in which young Gary Lewis sings a song and dances over a hillside of spring flowers.

Also adding in the direction was the producer of the picture, Jerry Lewis, who finds time to act in it too. Then there was his lovely wife Patsy, who brought along another son, Ronnie. Completing the family picture was Gary's grandfather, youthful-looking vaudeville veteran Danny Lewis, who also has a part in the movie.

The family group gathered in the Paramount commissary for lunch and discussed 12-year-old Gary's budding career, which is about to be nipped.

"This kid has only about 200 tons of talent," said proud papa Jerry. "It's just too bad it's going to be hidden until he grows up."

How's that? Gary's farewell appearance until he graduates from college," Jerry said.

I asked Gary how he felt about that.

"I'll change his mind," the boy said, out of his father's hearing. He'll have some powerful campaigning to do, because Jerry seems pretty firm in his decision. "I hate child actors," he said. "I mean the professional kind of child actor. The youngsters who are great as actors and who are really liked are the ones who do things naturally, who act without being actors. Gary is like that."

"But the trouble with most child actors is that they are pushed into it, acting by an ambitious parent. The kids become phony; they're subjected to all kinds of attention which they shouldn't have at their age. And they usually end up unhappy in their later lives."

"Gary doesn't have to act. He's going to have the advantage of the education I didn't have. I had to quit in the second grade of high school, not because I needed the money but because I couldn't be happy unless I was in the show business."

"I've lived to regret it. I've had to adjust to situations I could have coped with more easily if I had gone on in school."

Gen. Clinger Is Released by Army

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, who commanded Federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen at Central High School, today was released from federal duty.

Gov. Orval Faubus said he would immediately reappoint Clinger as Arkansas adjutant general.

Col. William C. Page, who was released from federal duty weeks ago, was acting adjutant general. He will resume his post as assistant to Clinger.

"We would like to see more of our National Guard personnel released," Faubus said. "They (the Army) still have some of our best officers."

The governor said Page understood that Clinger would become adjutant general again after being released from federal duty.

The new commander of the federalized troops will be Col. Alton Balkman, who was serving as a National Guard fiscal officer at the time he was ordered into federal service.
